What were the Fund costs for the last year?

(Based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
Class A	$135	1.21%

Gross expense ratio as of the latest prospectus: 1.22%. See prospectus for any contractual or voluntary waivers; without a waiver, costs would have been higher.

How did the Fund perform last year and what affected its performance?

Class A shares of the Fund returned 22.45% (unadjusted for sales charges) for the period ended August 31, 2025. The Fund's broad-based index, the MSCI EAFE Index, returned 13.87% for the same period, while the Fund's additional, more narrowly based index, the MSCI EAFE® Value Index, returned 22.65%.

Stock selection was the primary driver of the Fund's outperformance relative to the MSCI EAFE® Value Index. The Fund's holdings outperformed in eight of the ten sectors in which it held a position, with the best results occurring in materials. The French steel producer ArcelorMittal SA (1.6%) was the top contributor in the sector. The company reported better-than-expected earnings, continued to buy back shares, and was aided by optimism that it would be among the key beneficiaries of fiscal stimulus. Holcim Ltd. AG* and Nitto Denko Corp. (2.0%) were also top contributors in materials. Financials proved to be another area of strength for the Fund, with overweights in a number of European banks, including Banco Santander SA (3.2 %) and UniCredit SpA (2.8%), making the largest contributions. European banks, in general, performed well behind expectations for accelerating economic growth in the region, favorable interest rate trends, and improving fundamentals. Outside of these sectors, British American Tobacco PLC (2.6%), Compagnie Financiere Richemont SA,* and Sony Group Corp.* were leading contributors.

Industrials and utilities were the only sectors in which the Fund's holdings failed to keep up with the corresponding benchmark components. Teleperformance SE (0.6%), a French business services provider, and DCC PLC (2.2%), a U.K.-based energy company, were also key detractors in both the industrials sector and the portfolio as a whole. Verbund AG (1.6%), an electricity provider based in Austria, was a notable detractor in utilities. At the individual stock level, the Singapore-based financial services company Oversea-Chinese Banking Corp., Ltd. (1.5%) was the largest detractor. The shares came under pressure from the combination of falling net interest margins and a CEO transition.

A negative impact from sector allocation offset much of the benefit from selection. The majority of the shortfall resulted from an overweight in the underperforming healthcare sector, together with an underweight in financials.

Percentages in parentheses are based on the Fund's net assets as of August 31, 2025.

Investing in foreign securities presents certain risks, such as currency fluctuations, political and economic changes, and market risks. Stocks may decline in value. The Fund will be managed using the CROCI® Investment Process, which is based on portfolio management's belief that, over time, stocks which display more favorable financial metrics (for example, the CROCI® Economic P/E Ratio) as generated by this process may outperform stocks which display less favorable metrics. This premise may not prove to be correct and prospective investors should evaluate this assumption prior to investing in the Fund. The Fund may lend securities to approved institutions.
