How did the Fund perform last year and what affected its performance?

Class A shares of the Fund returned 9.82% (unadjusted for sales charges) for the period ended August 31, 2025. The Fund's index, the MSCI ACWI ex USA Index, returned 15.42% for the same period.

Stock selection played the largest role in the Fund's underperformance relative to the MSCI ACWI ex-USA Index. The Fund experienced the weakest results in the information technology sector, where shares of the IT services providers Globant SA (0.7%) and Capgemini SE (0.9%) were hurt by corporations' slower spending and shift away from large digital transformation projects toward AI-related initiatives. The Netherlands-based semiconductor producer ASML Holding NV (2.1%) also detracted. The company lowered its 2025 revenue guidance, and it came under pressure from weakness in business lines related to consumer electronics and industrial production. The Fund's holdings underperformed in the industrials sector, as well. Rentokil Initial PLC (0.9%) and Schneider Electric SE (1.4%), which were hurt by slowing growth and weaker demand, respectively, were the two largest detractors. Outside of these two sectors, Marsh & McLennan Companies, Inc. (1.9%) and Novo Nordisk A/S (0.9%) were the most notable detractors. Sector allocation also detracted from performance in the annual period, with an overweight in the underperforming healthcare sector accounting for nearly all of the shortfall.

On the positive side, the Fund strongly outperformed in communication services thanks to a position in the music streaming platform Spotify Technology SA (2.7%). The company reported record profits and a rising number of users, and it demonstrated the ability to monetize its user base more effectively. The consumer discretionary sector was another area of robust relative performance. Sportradar Group AG (0.8%), a provider of real-time sports data services, reported several strong quarterly results as it capitalized on the global expansion of sports betting. Positions in Amer Sports, Inc. (0.7%), a producer of sports equipment and apparel, and Auto1 Group SE (0.8%), a digital auto sales marketplace operator that reported better-than-expected growth, further contributed. Elsewhere in the portfolio, Agnico Eagle Mines Ltd. (1.8%) — a beneficiary of rising precious metals prices — was a key contributor.

Percentages in parentheses are based on the Fund's net assets as of August 31, 2025.
