What were the Fund costs for the last year?

(Based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

	Costs of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
Institutional Class	$54	0.55%

Gross expense ratio as of the latest prospectus: 0.81%. See prospectus for any contractual or voluntary waivers; without a waiver, costs would have been higher.

How did the Fund perform last year and what affected its performance?

Institutional Class shares of the Fund returned -2.74% for the period ended August 31, 2025. The Fund's broad-based index, the Bloomberg Municipal Bond Index, returned 0.08% for the same period, while the Fund's additional, more narrowly based index, the Bloomberg New York Exempt Municipal Bond Index, returned -0.70%.

Performance for the broad tax-free bond market was muted over the period by elevated supply that was in part driven by issuers seeking to get ahead of potential changes to the tax-exempt treatment of municipal bonds. The municipal curve steepened as yields finished notably higher for longer maturity bonds, leading to negative returns for those issues. As a result, the Fund's tilt toward more interest rate-sensitive long-term municipals detracted from performance relative to the Bloomberg New York Exempt Municipal Bond Index. In addition, uncertainty around the impact of federal policy on state budgets weighed on credit sentiment, constraining returns for lower quality issues in the BBB and below-investment grade rating categories. The Fund was overweight municipals rated BBB and below investment grade, weighing on relative performance. In sector terms, overweights to charter schools, senior living and higher education detracted.

Positive contributions to relative performance were led by overweights to airport and mass transit revenue bonds, along with an underweight to hospital revenue bonds.

Fund Performance

Cumulative Growth of an Assumed $1,000,000 Investment

Bloomberg Municipal Bond Index is a market value-weighted index of investment-grade municipal bonds with maturities of one year or more.

The Bloomberg Municipal Bond Index is a required broad-based index that represents the fund's overall debt market.

Bloomberg New York Exempt Municipal Bond Index includes investment-grade, tax-exempt and fixed-rate bonds issued in the state of New York; all securities have long-term maturities (greater than two years) and are selected from issues larger than $50 million.

The Bloomberg New York Exempt Municipal Bond Index is a more narrowly based index that reflects the market sector in which the fund invests.

Index returns do not reflect any fees or expenses and it is not possible to invest directly into an index.

Bond investments are subject to interest-rate, credit, liquidity, and market risks to varying degrees. When interest rates rise, bond prices generally fall. Credit risk refers to the ability of an issuer to make timely payments of principal and interest. Investments in lower-quality ("junk bonds") and non-rated securities present greater risk of loss than investments in higher-quality securities. Municipal securities are subject to the risk that litigation, legislation or other political events, local business or economic conditions or the bankruptcy of the issuer could have a significant effect on an issuer's ability to make payments of principal and/or interest. The market for municipal bonds may be less liquid than for taxable bonds and there may be less information available on the financial condition of issuers of municipal securities than for public corporations. Investing in derivatives entails special risks relating to liquidity, leverage and credit that may reduce returns and/or increase volatility. Although the Fund seeks income that is exempt from New York and federal income taxes, a portion of the Fund's distributions may be subject to federal, state, and local taxes, including the alternative minimum tax. This Fund is non-diversified and can take larger positions in fewer issues, increasing its potential risk. Please read the prospectus for details.
