

Italy's new coalition might not prove that scary

Investors should not read too much into the joint program, unveiled by Italy's populist new coalition.

Three months ago, we argued that "Markets may well be in for another Italian surprise." In our election preview, "An Italian muddle", we described why it would be wrong to read too much into Italian polling data. "Many market participants may be underestimating the risk of Five Star and, perhaps, the Lega and the far-right Brothers of Italy doing better than expected", we felt.

The anti-establishment Five-Star movement and the far-right Lega duly went on to win. Now that the two populist groups appear on the verge of forming Italy's new government, we would suggest a similarly cautious approach. Do not read too much into their "Contract for a Government of the Change", the 58-page joint governing program unveiled last week.

Italy is widely considered to be difficult to govern. Giuseppe Conte, the designated new prime minister, may find the task even harder than most of his predecessors. While the new coalition has a comfortable majority in the Chamber of Deputies, its hold in the Senate appears razor-thin. This partly reflects the oddities of Italy's electoral and constitutional system, including the presence of a handful of life-time appointees in the Senate. As both chambers are co-equal, it would only take a handful of defections to defeat the new coalition on any given measure.

Already, a number of key proposals regarding economic policy have been watered down. Those in the latest version of the program include a repeal in parts of the 2011 pension reform, a universal minimum income and "flat-tax" regime with a 15% income tax for incomes below 80,000 euro a year and 20% for all others. Together with the spending increases, lower income taxes could amount to a fiscal boost of about 5% of gross domestic product (GDP). Plenty of legal obstacles to fiscal expansion remain, however, under both Italian and European Union law.

A lot will depend on the details. Calls to revisit the Basel banking rules might mean almost anything. To take another example, the latest set of proposals on a "universal" minimum income, would only benefit job seekers, rather than all adult citizens. That sounds a lot like the kinds of labor-market reforms that actually worked quite well in other European countries, including Germany.

In coming days, it will be interesting to watch whom Mr. Conte, a law professor, proposes for key cabinet posts. This should offer some early pointers as to how much autonomy he may have as the new head of government. The choice of finance minister is likely to come under particular scrutiny. Another interesting question will be whether the new government can win support beyond the new

In a nutshell

- Governing Italy has never been easy. Giuseppe Conte, the designated new prime minister, might find the task even harder than his predecessors
- In all the excitement over specific ministerial choices or policy proposals, investors and foreign commentators may be overlooking the bigger picture
- For stock pickers, this Italian turmoil could create opportunities

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH coalition, particularly among deputies of the Lega's one-time right-wing partners, Forza Italia and Brothers of Italy.

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

One way or the other, however, we are likely to be talking about a very inexperienced and fractious government. This was already underlined by the tumultuous process of agreeing on the joint program. On a number of occasions, highly unconventional proposals were made, leaked, and scrapped again. Investors should expect more unnerving headlines – and resulting periods of market unease as a result.

Could these constitute buying opportunities? That rather depends on what assets and what headlines we are talking about.

Take fixed income and Italian sovereign bonds as an example, we would argue that there is some justification to the recent spread widening compared to German Bunds. For now, it looks unlikely, that Five Star and its coalition partner Lega would be willing or able to make good on some of their more radical ideas. Pushing for debt forgiveness of Italian bonds held by the European Central Bank (ECB) has already been scrapped for now. Equally unnerving proposals to introduce small-denomination bonds (so-called Mini-BOTs) to firms and individuals owed money by the Italian state remain on the table, but appear similarly hard to implement unilaterally.

Unlikely, however, does not mean impossible. Nor should investors get their hopes up too much that the ECB might be swiftly coming to the rescue. The current quantitative easing (QE) program was implemented to counter deflationary risks. It was not intended to prevent the widening of spreads of any particular country, even one as vital as Italy. Moreover, the Outright Monetary Transactions (OMT) program was designed specifically to shield countries from market attacks, and to counter any "unjustified" redenomination risk. The activation of OMT requires a country to comply with rules and measures imposed by a rescue program. A populist government might not be willing to sign up to such rules, which in turn would bind the ECB's hands.

As for Italian equities, we would reiterate that earnings growth looks very solid. Indeed, Italian companies remain on track to deliver the fastest earnings growth within the Eurozone in 2018. Meanwhile, Italian equities are trading at 13-times forward earnings, compared to 14-times for European equities as a whole. Of course, such aggregate comparisons hide as much as they reveal. Resurgent fears over Italian sovereign solvency would certainly hurt banks. Moreover, Italian banks might find it even harder to further cleanse their balance sheets from non-performing loans under the new coalition's latest proposals. By contrast, other sectors, notably oil and gas, as well as luxury goods, have done pretty well this year. They also look well insulated from domestic political turmoil. For stock pickers, this could create opportunities.

Which takes us to three final, related points. In all the excitement over specific ministerial choices or policy proposals, investors and foreign commentators may be overlooking the bigger picture. First, Italy's problems do not stem from a lack of international

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH competitiveness of its export sector. Indeed, it is a bit of a mystery to us why an economy with a current account surplus of 46 billion euros should constantly have its competitiveness questioned, notably in the foreign press. Another misconception is that the improvement in Italy's external balance is just a function of weak imports. In our view, domestic rigidities, such as inefficient and costly public services, and a slow judiciary system, are the likely culprit for Italy's growth malaise, not its competitiveness vis-à-vis other countries. Any evidence that a government intends to take on these rigidities are welcome.

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

Second, the overwhelming support of the new program among both Five-Star and Lega supporters over the weekend suggests plenty of political momentum. Some of that could prove constructive. As populist outsiders, they might be able to effectively take on vested interests. At the root of Italy's problems is low productivity growth in the domestic sector. A renewed push for justice reform and fighting corruption would be a clear positive, if a touch surprising. (Five-Star led municipal governments had similar intentions already, with limited success.) But just as the choice of Giuseppe Conte as prime minister came as a welcome surprise, given some of the alternatives, the new coalition could well outperform negative market perceptions.

Third, however, the real, longer-term impact of this unconventional coalition may go well beyond the immediate ones of a few misguided proposals, deteriorating government finances or even fresh elections before too long. Several times now, clear majorities of Italian voters have rejected broadly centrist and euro-friendly policies. The short-term scope for pursuing some of the more radical alternatives, including an Italian exit from the Eurozone, may be limited. However, we believe this will do nothing to endear the common currency to Italian voters. As the American journalist Henry Louis Mencken famously remarked: "there is always a well-known solution to every human problem — neat, plausible, and wrong".

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

Glossary

Bunds

Bunds is a commonly used term for bonds issued by the German federal government with a maturity of 10 years.

European Central Bank (ECB)

The European Central Bank (ECB) is the central bank for the Eurozone.

European Union (EU)

The European Union (EU) is a political and economic union of 28 member states located primarily in Europe.

Eurozone

The Eurozone is formed of 19 European Union member states that have adopted the euro as their common currency and sole legal tender.

Five Star Movement

The Five Star Movement is a populist political party in Italy. It is led by the popular comedian and blogger Beppe Grillo, who was also among its founders in 2009. It is considered anti-establishment, environmentalist, anti-globalist and Eurosceptic.

Gross domestic product (GDP)

The gross domestic product (GDP) is the monetary value of all the finished goods and services produced within a country's borders in a specific time period.

Lega

The Lega (formerly "Lega Nord") is a right-wing populist party in Italy. It was founded in 1991 through the merger of various parties. It is considered anti-globalist and Eurosceptic.

Non-performing loans (NPLs)

Non-performing loans (NPLs) are loans on which scheduled payments have not been made for (usually) at least 90 days.

Outright Monetary Transactions (OMT)

Outright Monetary Transactions (OMT) is a program of the ECB under which the bank makes purchases (outright transactions) in secondary, sovereign bond markets, under certain conditions, of bonds issued by Eurozone member states.

Quantitative easing (QE)

Quantitative easing (QE) is an unconventional monetary-policy tool, in which a central bank conducts broad-based asset purchases.

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

Spread

The spread is the difference between the quoted rates of return on two different investments, usually of different credit quality.

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

Risk warning

Investments are subject to investment risk, including market fluctuations, regulatory change, possible delays in repayment and loss of income and principal invested. The value of investments can fall as well as rise and you might not get back the amount originally invested at any point in time.

Investments in Foreign Countries – Such investments may be in countries that prove to be politically or economically unstable. Furthermore, in the case of investments in foreign securities or other assets, any fluctuations in currency exchange rates will affect the value of the investments and any restrictions imposed to prevent capital flight may make it difficult or impossible to exchange or repatriate foreign currency.

Foreign Exchange/Currency – Such transactions involve multiple risks, including currency risk and settlement risk. Economic or financial instability, lack of timely or reliable financial information or unfavorable political or legal developments may substantially and permanently alter the conditions, terms, marketability or price of a foreign currency. Profits and losses in transactions in foreign exchange will also be affected by fluctuations in currency where there is a need to convert the product's denomination(s) to another currency. Time zone differences may cause several hours to elapse between a payment being made in one currency and an offsetting payment in another currency. Relevant movements in currencies during the settlement period may seriously erode potential profits or significantly increase any losses.

High Yield Fixed Income Securities – Investing in high yield bonds, which tend to be more volatile than investment grade fixed income securities, is speculative. These bonds are affected by interest rate changes and the creditworthiness of the issuers, and investing in high yield bonds poses additional credit risk, as well as greater risk of default.

Hedge Funds – An investment in hedge funds is speculative and involves a high degree of risk, and is suitable only for “Qualified Purchasers” as defined by the US Investment Company Act of 1940 and “Accredited Investors” as defined in Regulation D of the 1933 Securities Act. No assurance can be given that a hedge fund's investment objective will be achieved, or that investors will receive a return of all or part of their investment.

Commodities – The risk of loss in trading commodities can be substantial. The price of commodities (e.g., raw industrial materials such as gold, copper and aluminium) may be subject to substantial fluctuations over short periods of time and may be affected by unpredicted international monetary and political policies. Additionally, valuations of commodities may be susceptible to such adverse global economic, political or regulatory developments. Prospective investors must independently assess the appropriateness of an investment in commodities in light of their own financial condition and objectives. Not all affiliates

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH or subsidiaries of Deutsche Bank Group offer commodities or commodities-related products and services.

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

Investment in private equity funds is speculative and involves significant risks including illiquidity, heightened potential for loss and lack of transparency. The environment for private equity investments is increasingly volatile and competitive, and an investor should only invest in the fund if the investor can withstand a total loss. In light of the fact that there are restrictions on withdrawals, transfers and redemptions, and the Funds are not registered under the securities laws of any jurisdictions, an investment in the funds will be illiquid. Investors should be prepared to bear the financial risks of their investments for an indefinite period of time.

Investment in real estate may be or become nonperforming after acquisition for a wide variety of reasons. Nonperforming real estate investment may require substantial workout negotiations and/ or restructuring.

Environmental liabilities may pose a risk such that the owner or operator of real property may become liable for the costs of removal or remediation of certain hazardous substances released on, about, under, or in its property. Additionally, to the extent real estate investments are made in foreign countries, such countries may prove to be politically or economically unstable. Finally, exposure to fluctuations in currency exchange rates may affect the value of a real estate investment.

Structured solutions are not suitable for all investors due to potential illiquidity, optionality, time to redemption, and the payoff profile of the strategy. We or our affiliates or persons associated with us or such affiliates may: maintain a long or short position in securities referred to herein, or in related futures or options, purchase or sell, make a market in, or engage in any other transaction involving such securities, and earn brokerage or other compensation. Calculations of returns on the instruments may be linked to a referenced index or interest rate. In such cases, the investments may not be suitable for persons unfamiliar with such index or interest rates, or unwilling or unable to bear the risks associated with the transaction. Products denominated in a currency, other than the investor's home currency, will be subject to changes in exchange rates, which may have an adverse effect on the value, price or income return of the products. These products may not be readily realizable investments and are not traded on any regulated market.

Hong Kong

The contents of this document have not been reviewed by any regulatory authority in Hong Kong. You are advised to exercise caution in relation to the investments contained herein. If you are in any doubt about any of the contents of this document, you should obtain independent professional advice. This document has not been approved by the Securities and Futures Commission in Hong Kong nor has a copy of this document been registered by the Registrar of Companies in Hong Kong and, accordingly, (a) the investments (except for investments which are a "structured product" as defined in the Securities and Futures Ordinance

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

(Cap. 571 of the Laws of Hong Kong) (the "SFO") may not be offered or sold in Hong Kong by means of this document or any other document other than to "professional investors" within the meaning of the SFO and any rules made thereunder, or in other circumstances which do not result in the document being a "prospectus" as defined in the Companies (Winding Up and Miscellaneous Provisions) Ordinance (Cap. 32 of the Laws of Hong Kong) ("CO") or which do not constitute an offer to the public within the meaning of the CO and (b) no person shall issue or possess for the purposes of issue, whether in Hong Kong or elsewhere, any advertisement, invitation or document relating to the investments which is directed at, or the contents of which are likely to be accessed or read by, the public in Hong Kong (except if permitted to do so under the securities laws of Hong Kong) other than with respect to the investments which are or are intended to be disposed of only to persons outside Hong Kong or only to "professional investors" within the meaning of the SFO and any rules made thereunder.

Singapore

Singapore Interests in the funds mentioned herein are not allowed to be made to the public or any members of the public in Singapore other than (i) to an institutional investor under Section 274 or 304 of the Securities and Futures Act (Cap 289) ("SFA"), as the case may be, (ii) to a relevant person (which includes an Accredited Investor) pursuant to Section 275 or 305 and in accordance with other conditions specified in Section 275 or 305 respectively of the SFA, as the case may be, or (iii) otherwise pursuant to, and in accordance with the conditions of, any other applicable provision of the SFA.

Important Information

DWS is the brand name of DWS Group GmbH & Co. KGaA. The respective legal entities offering products or services under the DWS brand are specified in the respective contracts, sales materials and other product information documents. DWS Group GmbH & Co. KGaA, its affiliated companies and its officers and employees (collectively "DWS Group") are communicating this document in good faith and on the following basis.

This document has been prepared without consideration of the investment needs, objectives or financial circumstances of any investor. Before making an investment decision, investors need to consider, with or without the assistance of an investment adviser, whether the investments and strategies described or provided by DWS Group, are appropriate, in light of their particular investment needs, objectives and financial circumstances. Furthermore, this document is for information/discussion purposes only and does not constitute an offer, recommendation or solicitation to conclude a transaction and should not be treated as giving investment advice.

DWS Group does not give tax or legal advice. Investors should seek advice from their own tax experts and lawyers, in considering investments and strategies suggested by DWS Group. Investments with DWS Group are not guaranteed, unless specified.

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

Investments are subject to various risks, including market fluctuations, regulatory change, possible delays in repayment and loss of income and principal invested. The value of investments can fall as well as rise and you might not get back the amount originally invested at any point in time. Furthermore, substantial fluctuations of the value of the investment are possible even over short periods of time. The terms of any investment will be exclusively subject to the detailed provisions, including risk considerations, contained in the offering documents. When making an investment decision, you should rely on the final documentation relating to the transaction and not the summary contained herein. Past performance is no guarantee of current or future performance. Nothing contained herein shall constitute any representation or warranty as to future performance.

Although the information herein has been obtained from sources believed to be reliable, DWS Group does not guarantee its accuracy, completeness or fairness. No liability for any error or omission is accepted by DWS Group. Opinions and estimates may be changed without notice and involve a number of assumptions which may not prove valid. All third party data (such as MSCI, S&P, Dow Jones, FTSE, Bank of America Merrill Lynch, Factset & Bloomberg) are copyrighted by and proprietary to the provider. DWS Group or persons associated with it ("Associated Persons") may (i) maintain a long or short position in securities referred to herein, or in related futures or options, and (ii) purchase or sell, make a market in, or engage in any other transaction involving such securities, and earn brokerage or other compensation.

The document was not produced, reviewed or edited by any research department within Deutsche Bank and is not investment research. Therefore, laws and regulations relating to investment research do not apply to it. Any opinions expressed herein may differ from the opinions expressed by other Deutsche Bank departments including research departments. This document may contain forward looking statements. Forward looking statements include, but are not limited to assumptions, estimates, projections, opinions, models and hypothetical performance analysis. The forward looking statements expressed constitute the author's judgment as of the date of this material. Forward looking statements involve significant elements of subjective judgments and analyses and changes thereto and/or consideration of different or additional factors could have a material impact on the results indicated. Therefore, actual results may vary, perhaps materially, from the results contained herein. No representation or warranty is made by Deutsche Bank as to the reasonableness or completeness of such forward looking statements or to any other financial information contained herein.

This document may not be reproduced or circulated without DWS Group's written authority. The manner of circulation and distribution of this document may be restricted by law or regulation in certain countries, including the United States.

This document is not directed to, or intended for distribution to or use by, any person or entity who is a citizen or resident of or located in any locality, state, country or other jurisdiction, including the

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH

CRC 057756 (05/2018)

United States, where such distribution, publication, availability or use would be contrary to law or regulation or which would subject DWS Group to any registration or licensing requirement within such jurisdiction not currently met within such jurisdiction. Persons into whose possession this document may come are required to inform themselves of, and to observe, such restrictions.

Unless notified to the contrary in a particular case, investment instruments are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") or any other governmental entity, and are not guaranteed by or obligations of DWS Group.

© 2018 Deutsche Asset Management (Asia) Limited

Publisher: Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH,
Mainzer Landstraße 11-17, 60329 Frankfurt am Main, Germany

All opinions and claims are based upon data on 5/22/18 and may not come to pass. This information is subject to change at any time, based upon economic, market and other considerations and should not be construed as a recommendation. Past performance is not indicative of future returns. Forecasts are based on assumptions, estimates, opinions and hypothetical models that may prove to be incorrect. Deutsche Asset Management Investment GmbH

CRC 057756 (05/2018)