Distributions from your IRA (excluding those from Roth IRAs) are generally subject to Federal (and possibly state) income tax. Even if you elect not to have Federal income tax withheld, you are liable for the full payment of Federal income tax, any state or local taxes, and any penalties that may apply to the distribution. You also may be subject to tax penalties under the estimated tax payment rules if your payments of estimated tax and withholding, if any, are not adequate.

If you choose to withhold Federal taxes, DWS will withhold any mandatory state taxes as well. If you would like to provide for any other state withholding, including for states where withholding is voluntary, you must complete the state withholding section below.

Before selecting a withholding option, please consult your legal or tax counsel for advice and information concerning your particular situation. Neither DWS nor any of its representatives may give tax or legal advice. Withholding requirements, exclusions and withholding tax rates are subject to change at any time. For the most up-to-date information on your state's tax withholding requirements, visit your state's website.

Federal withholding

If your distribution is being taken from a Traditional IRA or a SEP IRA, the default withholding rate is 10%. 10% of your distribution will be withheld and forwarded to the IRS unless you elect for a different rate to be withheld by completing Form W-4R. As indicated on Form W-4R, you can choose a rate between 0% (no Federal withholding) and 100%. If we do not receive a completed Form W-4R from you, we must withhold the default rate of 10% and you will be deemed to have elected this default rate. Generally, you can't choose less than 10% for payments to be delivered outside the United States and its possessions. If you elect not to have withholding apply to your distribution, or if you do not have enough Federal income tax withheld from your distribution, you may be responsible for payment of estimated tax. You may incur penalties under the estimated tax rules if your withholding and estimated tax payments are not sufficient.

For automatic withdrawal plans: if you selected to take distributions as part of an automatic withdrawal plan in Step 4 above, your Federal withholding election will remain in effect until you change it. You may change or revoke your election at any time by sending a completed Form W-4R to the address provided in this form. Please allow adequate time for us to process your request before the next scheduled distribution. Since a distribution from a Roth IRA is not subject to withholding, no withholding will be assessed if you do not provide a federal withholding option.

A copy of Form W-4R may be included with this distribution request form, or can be accessed at <https://www.irs.gov/forms-instructions>.

State withholding

For states and the District of Columbia that mandate withholding on distributions, DWS will automatically withhold the minimum required amount and forward it to the appropriate revenue service only if you have also elected for Federal withholding above. If you would like to specify an amount greater than the minimum, or if you would like voluntary state withholding taken, please indicate below. If the state withholding option is selected and your state does not accept withholding, DWS will not take state withholding from your distribution(s).

- Withhold a total of $  and forward to my state revenue service. (Please note if the dollar amount provided is less than the state minimum, DWS will withhold the minimum amount required by your state. In addition, if there are multiple funds and/or accounts, the total withholding amount will be divided equally).

I request the above distribution(s) and am aware of the possible tax consequences of taking this distribution. I certify that I have the authority and legal capacity to request a distribution.

You must obtain a Medallion Signature Guarantee if your distribution will be:

- mailed to an address other than the address listed on the account or to an address that has changed within the past 15 days.
- invested in a DWS Fund account with a different registration.
- a check greater than $100,000 being mailed to your address of record.
- made payable to someone other than yourself.
- sent electronically to a new bank. All DWS owner(s) and all additional bank account owners must sign.

Medallion Signature Guarantee

A Medallion Signature Guarantee is issued by a bank, savings and loan, trust company, credit union, broker/dealer, or any member or participant of an approved signature guarantee program. Please note that a notary public is not an acceptable guarantor. An officer of the institution will ask for identification to be sure that you are, in fact, the person identified on this form and the person signing it. Once the guarantor has reviewed your request, verified your identity and your authority to act on the account presented to them, they will affix a Medallion Signature Guarantee stamp to your form.

DWS prefers Medallion Signature Guarantee stamps. We must receive an original stamp. If more than one signature is required on this form, we will need separate stamps for each signature. If you are obtaining a non-Medallion Signature Guarantee, please contact us. We may require additional documentation to complete your request.

† If acting on behalf of the account owner, you must sign in capacity of your title as it relates to this account, i.e. Joe Smith, Attorney-in-fact; Mary Johnson, Guardian; etc. The institution providing the Medallion Signature Guarantee for these types of accounts will require additional documentation. You may wish to contact the institution to confirm the documentation they require to provide you with a Medallion Signature Guarantee.

How do I request a distribution from my Individual Retirement Arrangement (IRA)?

You may use the enclosed IRA distribution request form to authorize DWS to make a voluntary distribution from your DWS Fund IRA.

What types of distributions may I take?

There are three options available to you on this form. Each is described below.

A) Total distribution

A total distribution is a complete withdrawal of the assets in the DWS Fund IRA. If both deductible and nondeductible contributions had been made to the Traditional IRA, generally only the portion which had been claimed as deductible and all earnings would be considered taxable. Roth IRA earnings distributions may not be taxable to the beneficiary if the distribution is made after the five-year holding period for Roth IRA death distributions has passed. (Note: Spousal beneficiaries who treat the IRA as their own are not eligible for this qualifying death distribution.) Otherwise, a portion of each distribution (calculated as outlined in IRS publication 590) may be taxable income to the beneficiary. Please refer to the IRA plan document and IRS publication 590 for further detail.

B) Partial distribution

A partial distribution is a withdrawal of a portion of the assets in the DWS Fund IRA. As with a total distribution, Traditional IRA deductible contributions and all earnings are considered taxable. Roth IRA earnings distributions may not be taxable to the beneficiary if the distribution is made after the five-year holding period for Roth IRA death distributions has passed. (Note: Spousal beneficiaries who treat the IRA as their own are not eligible for this qualifying death distribution.) Otherwise, a portion of each distribution (calculated as outlined in IRS publication 590) may be taxable income to the beneficiary. Please refer to the IRA plan document and IRS publication 590 for further detail.

C) Automatic withdrawal plan

An automatic withdrawal plan enables you to receive automatic distributions from the DWS Fund IRA over a period of time. Taxable amounts are discussed in A and B above.

What options are available for calculating a partial distribution or an Automatic Withdrawal Plan (AWP)?

In general, you may withdraw any amount you wish as a partial distribution. If you elect to begin taking withdrawals based on life expectancy, the withdrawals will be calculated using either your life expectancy or the joint life expectancy of you and your designated sole primary spousal beneficiary if that beneficiary is more than ten years younger than you.

Note: Special rules govern the minimum amounts which must be withdrawn once you reach the applicable age for required minimum distributions set forth in the Internal Revenue Code and are required to begin distributions from a Traditional IRA.

If you wish DWS to calculate your distribution for AWP payments, we will use tables published by the IRS to determine life expectancy.

DWS can help you with the calculation of your distribution amount if you request ongoing distributions based on life expectancy. Please contact us for the appropriate form.

We must be notified in writing if:

- You wish to change your beneficiary.
- Either you or your beneficiary dies.
- You exchange assets among your DWS Fund IRA accounts, open new DWS Fund IRA accounts, or transfer or roll over assets from another IRA or retirement plan to your DWS Fund IRA.

Please refer to the IRA plan document for more detailed information about IRA distributions. You should also consult your tax advisor to discuss distribution alternatives and to ensure you are taking required minimum distributions once you attain the applicable age for required minimum distributions set forth in the Internal Revenue Code.

Are there any penalties associated with a distribution?

You must pay ordinary income tax on the taxable portion of any withdrawal from a Traditional IRA or Roth IRA (that does not qualify for tax-free status). The IRS will also charge a 10% penalty on the taxable portion of distributions taken before age 59½ unless an exception applies. Some exceptions include:

- If your withdrawal is a “rollover” to another IRA or qualified plan within 60 days.
- If the withdrawal(s) are due to death or disability (If you are disabled, you must include a letter from the Social Security Administration stating that you are disabled.)
- If your withdrawal is made in installment payments based on life expectancy (also called “substantially equal periodic payments”) and meets certain requirements (Refer to your IRA plan document for additional information.)
- If the withdrawal is a “qualified birth or adoption distribution.”

DWS does not assess or remove the 10% penalty for premature distributions. Please consult a tax advisor regarding a premature distribution penalty situation.

If you have any questions about completing the IRA distribution request form, please feel free to contact Shareholder Services at the number provided at the top of the first page of the form.

Your withholding rate is determined by the type of payment you will receive.

- For nonperiodic payments, the default withholding rate is 10%. You can choose to have a different rate by entering a rate between 0% and 100% on line 2. Generally, you can't choose less than 10% for payments to be delivered outside the United States and its territories.
- For an eligible rollover distribution, the default withholding rate is 20%. You can choose a rate greater than 20% by entering the rate on line 2. You may not choose a rate less than 20%.

See page 2 for more information.

Future developments. For the latest information about any future developments related to Form W-4R, such as legislation enacted after it was published, go to www.irs.gov/FormW4R.

Purpose of form. Complete Form W-4R to have payers withhold the correct amount of federal income tax from your nonperiodic payment or eligible rollover distribution from an employer retirement plan, annuity (including a commercial annuity), or individual retirement arrangement (IRA). See page 2 for the rules and options that are available for each type of payment. Don't use Form W-4R for periodic payments (payments made in installments at regular intervals over a period of more than 1 year) from these plans or arrangements. Instead, use Form W-4P, Withholding Certificate for Periodic Pension or Annuity Payments. For more information on withholding, see Pub. 505, Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax.

Caution: If you have too little tax withheld, you will generally owe tax when you file your tax return and may owe a penalty unless you make timely payments of estimated tax. If too much tax is withheld, you will generally be due a refund when you file your tax return. Your withholding choice (or an election not to have withholding on a nonperiodic payment) will generally apply to any future payment from the same plan or IRA. Submit a new Form W-4R if you want to change your election.

2025 Marginal Rate Tables

You may use these tables to help you select the appropriate withholding rate for this payment or distribution. Add your income from all sources and use the column that matches your filing status to find the corresponding rate of withholding. See page 2 for more information on how to use this table.

General Instructions (continued)

Nonperiodic payments—10% withholding. Your payer must withhold at a default 10% rate from the taxable amount of nonperiodic payments unless you enter a different rate on line 2. Distributions from an IRA that are payable on demand are treated as nonperiodic payments. Note that the default rate of withholding may not be appropriate for your tax situation. You may choose to have no federal income tax withheld by entering “-0-” on line 2. See the specific instructions below for more information. Generally, you are not permitted to elect to have federal income tax withheld at a rate of less than 10% (including “-0-”) on any payments to be delivered outside the United States and its territories.

Note: If you don't give Form W-4R to your payer, you don't provide an SSN, or the IRS notifies the payer that you gave an incorrect SSN, then the payer must withhold 10% of the payment for federal income tax and can't honor requests to have a lower (or no) amount withheld. Generally, for payments that began before 2025, your current withholding election (or your default rate) remains in effect unless you submit a Form W-4R.

Eligible rollover distributions—20% withholding. Distributions you receive from qualified retirement plans (for example, 401(k) plans and section 457(b) plans maintained by a governmental employer) or tax-sheltered annuities that are eligible to be rolled over to an IRA or qualified plan are subject to a 20% default rate of withholding on the taxable amount of the distribution. You can't choose withholding at a rate of less than 20% (including “-0-”). Note that the default rate of withholding may be too low for your tax situation. You may choose to enter a rate higher than 20% on line 2. Don't give Form W-4R to your payer unless you want more than 20% withheld.

Note that the following payments are not eligible rollover distributions for purposes of these withholding rules:

- Qualifying “hardship” distributions;
- Distributions required by federal law, such as required minimum distributions;
- Distributions from a pension-linked emergency savings account;
- Eligible distributions to a domestic abuse victim;
- Qualified disaster recovery distributions;
- Qualified birth or adoption distributions; and
- Emergency personal expense distributions.

See Pub. 505 for details. See also Nonperiodic payments—10% withholding above.

Payments to nonresident aliens and foreign estates. Do not use Form W-4R. See Pub. 515, Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities, and Pub. 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens, for more information.

Tax relief for victims of terrorist attacks. If your disability payments for injuries incurred as a direct result of a terrorist attack are not taxable, enter “-0-” on line 2. See Pub. 3920, Tax Relief for Victims of Terrorist Attacks, for more details.

Specific Instructions

Line 1b

For an estate, enter the estate's employer identification number (EIN) in the area reserved for “Social security number.”

Line 2

More withholding. If you want more than the default rate withheld from your payment, you may enter a higher rate on line 2.

Less withholding (nonperiodic payments only). If permitted, you may enter a lower rate on line 2 (including “-0-”) if you want less than the 10% default rate withheld from your payment. If you have already paid, or plan to pay, your tax on this payment through other withholding or estimated tax payments, you may want to enter “-0-”.

Suggestion for determining withholding. Consider using the Marginal Rate Tables on page 1 to help you select the appropriate withholding rate for this payment or distribution. The tables are most accurate if the appropriate amount of tax on all other sources of income, deductions, and credits has been paid through other withholding or estimated tax payments. If the appropriate amount of tax on those sources of income has not been paid through other withholding or estimated tax payments, you can pay that tax through withholding on this payment by entering a rate that is greater than the rate in the Marginal Rate Tables.

The marginal tax rate is the rate of tax on each additional dollar of income you receive above a particular amount of income. You can use the table for your filing status as a guide to find a rate of withholding for amounts above the total income level in the table.

To determine the appropriate rate of withholding from the table, do the following. Step 1: Find the rate that corresponds with your total income not including the payment. Step 2: Add your total income and the taxable amount of the payment and find the corresponding rate.

If these two rates are the same, enter that rate on line 2. (See Example 1 below.)

If the two rates differ, multiply (a) the amount in the lower rate bracket by the rate for that bracket, and (b) the amount in the higher rate bracket by the rate for that bracket. Add these two numbers; this is the expected tax for this payment. To get the rate to have withheld, divide this amount by the taxable amount of the payment. Round up to the next whole number and enter that rate on line 2. (See Example 2 below.)

If you prefer a simpler approach (but one that may lead to overwithholding), find the rate that corresponds to your total income including the payment and enter that rate on line 2.

Examples. Assume the following facts for Examples 1 and 2. Your filing status is single. You expect the taxable amount of your payment to be $20,000. Appropriate amounts have been withheld for all other sources of income and any deductions or credits.

Example 1. You expect your total income to be $65,000 without the payment. Step 1: Because your total income without the payment, $65,000, is greater than $63,475 but less than $118,350, the corresponding rate is 22%. Step 2: Because your total income with the payment, $85,000, is greater than $63,475 but less than $118,350, the corresponding rate is 22%. Because these two rates are the same, enter “22” on line 2.

Example 2. You expect your total income to be $61,000 without the payment. Step 1: Because your total income without the payment, $61,000, is greater than $26,925 but less than $63,475, the corresponding rate is 12%. Step 2: Because your total income with the payment, $81,000, is greater than $63,475 but less than $118,350, the corresponding rate is 22%. The two rates differ. $2,475 of the $20,000 payment is in the lower bracket ($63,475 less your total income of $61,000 without the payment), and $17,525 is in the higher bracket ($20,000 less the $2,475 that is in the lower bracket). Multiply $2,475 by 12% to get $297. Multiply $17,525 by 22% to get $3,856. The sum of these two amounts is $4,153. This is the estimated tax on your payment. This amount corresponds to 21% of the $20,000 payment ($4,153 divided by $20,000). Enter "21" on line 2.
